

Real-Time Resource

The CFPB rules have gone from theoretical to reality. Now questions are not “in preparation” for what could happen, but rather “in real-time” about what is happening.

For the past 18 months, we’ve spent much of our time preparing our people, our systems and our partners with:

- Online and in-person presentations and training sessions
- In-person local Power User training
- In-person sales training
- CFPB specific Websites
- Electronic communications and updates via campaigns and emails
- Marketing collateral and videos

If you need assistance, just ask. Our expert staff are informed and ready to assist you to get through that next transaction.
